

Jai Daggett
Executive Director, TX

Born in Houston, Jai has called Texas home for most of his life. He is married to his wife of 13 years Katie, and they have 2 beautiful children. After working for Fortune 50 companies in the medical industry for more than 14 years, Daggett made the decision to start his own healthcare business to provide a more personal approach to doing business with healthcare providers that he spent so much of his professional career working with.

Because Daggett has a heart for service, he has been committed to giving back to the community that he loves and calls home by serving on the Tax Increment Reinvestment Zone Board along with several other education, health and child welfare boards including: Southwest Charter Schools, the Christus Foundation, and Child Advocates. He's worked with the local Community Emergency Response Team (CERT) in the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina, Ike, Harvey, and most recently Winter Storm Uri providing Point of Dispense support and resource distribution.

Daggett has dedicated his time to ensuring the success of his neighborhood's annual National Night Out event, planning, and organizing it for the past several years. National Night Out is a national community-building campaign that promotes police-community partnerships. He's also a regular volunteer for the Watch D.O.G.S. (Dads of Great Students) program in Alvin I.S.D. Watch D.O.G.S. is a nationally recognized program that uses the positive influence of fathers and father-figures to be a presence in the schools and to be a positive and active role model for students at their school.

Daggett is a member and volunteer of New Hope Church in Pearland and regularly volunteers his time as a den leader for local Boy and Girl scouts.

About Street Grace:
