Brooke Ruffin graduated magna cum laude from the University of Florida and has a background in advocacy and performance. A survivor of childhood sexual abuse herself she is dedicated to removing the stigma and educating children on how they can protect themselves from exploitation. She has completed an Equity Principle contract with Walt Disney World in Orlando Florida and after moving to Atlanta she began teaching with The Music Class Inc. focusing on brain development and the effects of music on the memory.

Throughout her performance career she remained a strong advocate and volunteer for sexual abuse survivors and developed a dance class focused on re-establishing survivors' emotional connection to their physical bodies. Brooke is dedicated to the fight against the Commercial Sexual Exploitation of Children and previously served Street Grace as the Operations Manager in Atlanta, overseeing donor communications, office administration, and outreach trainings. Ruffin is thrilled to share Street Grace's message and implement programming within the California community.

About Street Grace:

Street Grace is a faith-based organization that utilizes evidence-based demand reduction strategies to eradicate the commercial sexual exploitation of children (CSEC) through prevention/protection, policy and pursuit.

CSEC is sexual activity with a child in exchange for something of value given to the child or a third person.
